Pastor's Corner

Rev. Samuel Loterte, SSS

30th Sunday in Ordinary Time, October 25, 2009

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ.

This Sunday in we celebrate "World Priest Day." This day is "meant to deepen the commitment of all priests to interior renewal for the sake of a more forceful and incisive witness to the Gospel in today's world" (letter of Pope Benedict to Priests for the inauguration of the Year for Priests, June 2009).

We all know that for every priest, imitation of Jesus, the Good Shepherd, is the way to his own sanctification. It is also the essential condition for exercising his pastoral ministry responsibly.

Let us pray for all priests that they may be men of prayer and men of God. At the heart of priestly life is the Eucharist. This helps them to configure their lives to Christ and strengthens them in their chosen vocation. God bless you, Fr. Samuel E. loterte, SSS

PRAYER OF THE ASSEMBLY FOR PRIESTS

Lord Jesus, you have chosen your priests from among us and sent them out to proclaim your word and to act in your name. For so great a gift to your Church, we give you praise and thanksgiving. We ask you to fill them with the fire of your love, that their ministry may reveal your presence in the Church.

Since they are earthen vessels, we pray that your power shine out through their weakness.

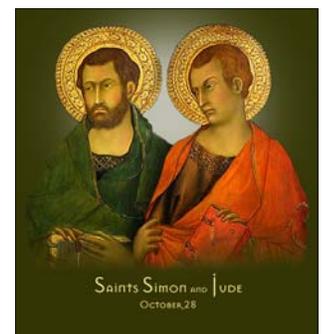

In their afflictions let them never be crushed; in their doubts never despair; in temptation never be destroyed; in persecution never abandoned. Inspire them through prayer to live each day the mystery of your dying and rising. In times of weakness send them your Spirit, and help them to praise your heavenly Father and pray for poor sinners.

By the same Holy Spirit put your word on their lips and your love in their hearts, to bring Good News to the poor and healing to the brokenhearted. And may the gift of Mary your Mother, to the disciple whom you loved, be your gift to every priest. Grant that she who formed you in her human image, may form them in your divine image, by the power of your Spirit, to the glory of God the father. Amen.

Sts. Simon and Jude : feast day, Oct 28

Jude is so named by Luke and Acts. Matthew and Mark call him Thaddeus. He is not mentioned elsewhere in the Gospels, except, of course, where all the apostles are referred to. Scholars hold that he is not the author of the Letter of Jude. Actually, Jude had the same name as Judas Iscariot. Evidently because of the disgrace of that name, it was shortened to "Jude" in English.

Simon is mentioned on all four lists of the apostles. On two of them he is called "the Zealot." The Zealots were a Jewish sect that represented an extreme of Jewish nationalism. For them, the messianic promise of the Old Testament meant that the Jews were to be a free and independent nation. God alone was their king, and any payment of taxes to the Romans—the very domination of the Romans—was a blasphemy against God. No doubt some of the Zealots were the spiritual heirs of the Maccabees, carrying on their ideals of religion and independence. But many were the counterparts of modern terrorists. They raided and killed, attacking both foreigners and "collaborating" Jews. They were chiefly responsible for the rebellion against Rome which ended in the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70. <http://www.americancatholic.org/features/saintofday>

Sunday Reflection:

by Father Greg Friedman, O.F.M

30th Sunday in Ordinary Time (B)

October 25, 2009

Jer 31:7-9; Ps 126:1-2, 2-3, 4-5, 6 ; Heb 5:1-6 ; Mk 10:46-52

Today's Gospel story of Blind Bartimaeus, the man who receives his sight from Jesus, brings back memories. In grade school I read a fictional story of the life of Bartimaeus prior to that encounter with Jesus. It's what's called the "back story" in movies, the history of the character not portrayed on the screen. I don't remember the name of that book, but the memory has been with me all these years. Imagining a whole life history for Bartimaeus helps me to put his response to Jesus into a context. We don't know the real story, of course, and can only work with what Mark gives us.

But I think that, like Bartimaeus, each of us is a person with some degree of faith. You wouldn't be attending to my words here if you weren't. Like him, we want to see. Our deepest wishes, our courage when we take a risk, the generosity we might feel in response to God's grace are all inside of us, like they were in Bartimaeus.

Today, God invites us to step out of our personal stories into the lights, in front of the camera, and into the story of the Kingdom. What a thrilling and dramatic moment it is, as we hear the Lord ask us, "What do you want me to do for you?"

And our response...

Support Our Special Collection

Catholic Charities Sunday

This weekend is Catholic Charities Sunday. This is the annual special collection held to support Catholic Charities Hawaii here on the Big Island. Catholic Charities Hawaii, through its programs and partnership with parishes, serves and advocates for those who are most vulnerable in our community.

Here on the Big Island last year Catholic Charities Hawaii served more than 1,200 individuals with programs that help the elderly, youth in crisis, immigrants, and homeless families, as well as providing access to over $74,000 in financial assistance (through grants and partnerships) for residents here in our local community facing economic challenges.

I invite you to continue to work with us in supporting the social mission of the Church by making a gift this Catholic Charities Sunday. Your support provides a hand up for today and hopes for the future for the individuals and families we serve. Every gift, regardless of the amount, helps to assist families in need here on the Big Island.

In the back of the church, there are donation envelopes available and materials with more information. If you would like to contribute, you may send these envelopes by mail (no postage needed), or drop them in the regular collection basket!

"Not all values are of equal weight. Some are more fundamental than others. ...I wish to emphasize that no earthly value is more fundamental than human life itself.

Human life is the condition for enjoying freedom and all other values.

Consequently, if one must choose between protecting or serving lesser human values that depend upon life for their existence and life itself, human life must take precedence."

Disabilities Ministry

Choosing Words with Dignity: Persons with disabilities are just that —PERSONS. Avoid using such words as crippled, handicapped, dumb, a defect or afflicted, but rather speak to the PERSON. Examples could include using phraseology such as, : “that person is deaf or hard of hearing” rather than he is a deaf mute or deaf and dumb.” When referring to a person with a mental illness, he isn’t “ a mental case or psycho.” A person may have multiple or severe disabilities but shouldn’t be referred to as being “a vegetable, pitiful or a freak.” You can make the difference and with the awareness and proper attitude may too convey compassion and welcome to persons with disabilities throughout our parish communities.

Please remember our brothers and sisters who need our help by bringing food donations every week with you to Mass.

Prayer to St. Dymphna

“We turn to you, dear St. Dymphna, in confident hope that you will remember our special intention in the presence of the Lord our God.

To your caring intercession we entrust those who suffer from Alzheimer's disease, their families and friends, and all others who are seriously concerned about this disabling sickness so widespread in our time.

As patron of the nervous and emotionally disturbed, you are graciously channeling god’s healing power even to seemingly hopeless cases. We believe that you will show the same compassion to persons afflicted with Alzheimer's disease. Please pray with us that the medical teams involved in research may soon discover its cause and cure.

Dear St. Dymphna, now in heaven with God where there is “...no more death, no more grief or crying or pain...” (Rev 21:4) you are our sign and beacon of hope. Be our direct channel to Jesus, the Divine Physician and Healer of the Sick. With you, his faithful follower, we give thanks for all those who will regain health and wholeness of body, mind and spirit. Amen

NOVEMBER AT MALIA

Next Sunday is already the first of November. This is the month we put special emphasis on remembering all those loved ones who have died. You are invited to participate in the following special prayerful events remembering our loved ones:

1. The Book of Life: Starting today and throughout the Month of November there will be a white book at the entrance to church. You are invited to write the names of your loved ones into this Book of Life. The Book of Life will be brought and placed on the altar at every weekend Mass. The Weekend Masses will be offered for those whose names are inscribed in The Book of Life.
2. Monday, November 2nd is All Souls Day. There will be a Special Mass at 5:15 pm during which we will remember, by name, the parishioners from Malia who died this past year and your loved ones who recently died. You are requested to write the names of your loved ones who you wish to be remembered by name on the All Souls Day envelopes in the pews. These must be placed in the Koa Bowl no later than Sunday, Nov 1. During the All Souls Day Mass the names will be read and you will be invited to light a candle in their memory.
3. Beginning Monday, Nov 2nd, there will be a 5:15 pm Mass at Malia every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. With the exception of the All Souls Day Mass on Monday, Nov 2nd, there will be no music at the 5:15 pm Masses. The Masses will be a very simple Liturgy of the Word and the Eucharist with no Prayer of the Faithful and no Sign of Peace. These Masses are offered as a short but profound Thanksgiving to the Lord at the end of the work day.
4. Beginning Saturday, November 7th and every Saturday there-after, there will be a 5:15 pm Mass in anticipation of Sunday. This will be in addition to our traditional 9:00AM Sunday Mass. The 5:15 Saturday evening Mass will put special emphasis on Families, Youth, and Young Adults. The choir will practice on Saturdays at 4:00 pm for the Sunday Masses. We hope that more instrumentalists and vocalists will join the choir. The Youth and Young Adults are invited to use the Malia facilities after the 5:15 Saturday Mass until 10:00 pm to socialize, communicate, and have fun. (More about this later)

The minutes of the meetings will be published in the bulletin one week after the meeting. The Committees are our representatives to the pastor. All suggestions and ideas are welcome.

St. Damien De Veuster, from Tremeloo to Hilo

*Submitted by:
Dr. Stephen Woo*

A Seminarian's Life

A year of study passed quickly, and on October 7, 1960, he with other novices pronounced their vows in the cathedral of the Mother House of the Sacred Hearts Fathers on Picpus Street in Paris.

His parents witnessed the ceremony with tears of joy. Their Jef was now a member of the Sacred Hearts Fathers.

Brother Damien's academic journey took him to France for a year and then back to Louvain where he was joyously united with Pamphile. His enormous capacity for work prompted him to study elective courses on top of the prescribed curriculum, and he learned with such ease that many believed he, like Pamphile, was destined for an academic career.

Yet, he did not forego the spiritual aspects of his training, for Pamphile recorded: "Fr. Wenceslaus had preached a sermon one day in which he emphasized three points: Silence, Meditation, and Continual Prayer. My brother, as if writing the words on paper was not enough, wished to have them always before his eyes, so he took his knife and cut them into the wood of his desk." The words, "Silence, Meditation, Prayer," continue to give testimony to the carver's dedication on that very desk now on display in Tremeloo.

St. Joseph's Chapel

The five hundred year old St. Joseph's chapel, next to the Formation House, was being renovated. For at least an hour daily Damien watched the work, fascinated by the workmanship of the craftsmen

However the chapel's tall and rickety chimney stymied the workers, none of whom dared climb the weakened structure to dismantle it.

They were surprised when Damien stepped forward and volunteered to do the job. Quickly a tall ladder was erected against the structure. As workers steadied it Damien clambered to the top and with a mason's hammer dismantled the chimney brick by brick. (Fourteen years later he wrote to his family, "The ten years I have been on the Mission I have built a church or chapel every year. The habit I had at home of practicing different kinds of work is of immense use to me here.")

This is the same chapel that received Damien's remains when they were conveyed from Molokai to Louvain forty-seven years after his death.

Hawaii Calls

Pamphile was ordained in February, 1863 and several months later was assigned with fifteen other priests, nuns and brothers to answer Bishop Louis Maigret's plea for help in the Sandwich Islands. Pamphile was a reluctant missionary, but he had taken a vow of obedience. At best it would be an assignment of short duration. At worst it would mean the end of a scholar's career.

Did he pray that he not be sent? Probably so. Did he think the Lord would use a louse to answer his prayer? Probably not. In August, 1863, a case of typhus appeared in Louvain when a louse bit and defecated on an unfortunate individual. The germ-filled feces infected the poor soul when he or she scratched the itch. The germs invaded the blood stream and resulted in a fatal infection but not before other lice fed on the victim and visited still other Louvainians. By mid-September over a hundred had died, including several physicians and priests who attended to them. As the number of priests dwindled Father Pamphile was quick to answer the call.

Damien, unaware of the epidemic, had just received minor orders on September 19 in Mechelen, (or Malines to the French), Belgium, and as his stagecoach entered Louvain he was surprised and puzzled to find it virtually deserted.

Pamphile toiled heroically for ten days ministering to the sick and dying. One morning, when he failed to appear for Mass, Damien hurried to his room and discovered him in bed shaking with fever
